Affinity At Serangoon is an upcoming condominium by Oxley Holdings Limited

The Affinity At Serangoon development is designed in such a manner that a majority of the models get to enjoy the unblock landed view wanting in direction of the Backyard space.

Affinity at Serangoon does seem to be it has a greater mixture of unit types and the strata landed units within the development do look appealing.

Typically, smaller models reap essentially the most revenue for property developers and It is probably the case for Affinity rental as developer tries to squeeze in more of those units into the event.

Most items on the Affinity condominium are north-south going through and affords good open view of the landed properties across the neighbourhood.
